Between Us

When Dan and John Groover, dressed in uniforms, lowered the gangplank for the annual Junior-Senior banquet a leveler array of girls never crossed a gangplank in the world. The Women's Club room was turned into a typical ship, and even the life-rafts hung just outside the door.

Inside the banquet hall, the tables, seating around 150 young ladies and their escorts, were tiny ships on the tables and over the chairs. The life-rafts were a larger ship lighted; above, hanging from the low beams, were blue and white balloons which were lowered during the evening along with ships given for favors. Much credit is due the mothers of the Junior class for their untiring efforts in making this prettiest banquet in High School history. Prunella Cromatic entertained the Sophomore Freshman group, and her yard was a myriad of vari-colored lights, and the guests added to the background as they went their way in and out of the flower garden dressed in lovely, low-cut evening gowns. It would be difficult to choose one member from each class, the girls as a whole are so attractive. Graduation invitations are being given out by the mothers of the Junior class. Credit should be given to the special effort of the fine arts committee and to the young men who gave so unsparringly of their time in presenting "Lady Winemere's Fan" which was very enjoyable and financially profitable.

We are proud to say that in another year we shall be federated. At the meeting in May the following officers were elected for the year 1938-39 were installed:

President—Mrs. R. L. Cone; first vice-president, Mrs. Percy Bland; second vice-president, Mrs. Alfred Dorman; recording secretary, Mrs. J. L. Mathews; treasurer, Mrs. A. J. Mooney; parliamentarian, Mrs. W. G. Raines; press reporter, Mrs. P. O. Olin; general secretary, Mrs. H. Olin; and Mrs. H. Olin.

Hitt; educational, Mrs. Barney Morris; Matrons, Mrs. J. S. Murray; membership, Mrs. B. H. Ramsey; Mrs. Everett Williams; garden, Mrs. Fred T. Lanier and Mrs. C. D. Fletcher; social, Mrs. Lester Martin and Mrs. Charlie Cone; ways and means, Mrs. Olin Franklin and Mrs. Arnold Anderson.

WOMAN'S CLUB ENDS MOST SUCCESSFUL YEAR

The year 1937-38 was a most gratifying one to all club members. An outstanding feature of the year's work was the fact that our financial obligation of $1,200 was taken care of to the extent that $700 plus interest was paid off.

Each committee and every officer carried on his work in a most worthwhile manner. Credit should be given to the special effort of the fine arts committee and to the young men who gave so unsparringly of their time in presenting "Lady Winemere's Fan" which was very enjoyable and financially profitable.

Some People We Like--How and Why

That valuable publication, the "World Almanac," says "there are now more than two billion human beings on earth." So far as the Times are aware they are all likeable, but since this series is not personally acquainted with all of them, this column will deal only with the half dozen or so each week who come under our observation—and whom we have special reason to like. For instance—

Faces of Men Look Down from the Wall—

(1) In the old days at school every Friday was "speech day." On that afternoon the roll was called and every pupil was required to respond with a recitation. Stella Gibbs, the oldest girl in school, recited dramatically "Bingen on the Rhine," and wept the while. Mary Jeffords' favorite was "Somebody's Darling," which made everybody weep. Another of the older girls recited the one about the boy on the burning deck who wouldn't go "because he loved his father so." Everybody was expected to memorize a poem, and Henry was the favorite masterpiece. "Was Spider on the wall; that's all." On a recent evening that brief poem came back to us as we sat in a certain place and saw the faces looking at us from the walls—an array which had been assembled over a period of three-quarters of a century—all ages, all occupations, blacksmiths, farmers, ministers, lawyers, doctors, preachers, and even the beards, mustaches and clean shaven. And there was such a variety of faces, yet such a striking similarity! They were the faces of intelligent men whose motives for right living were based upon the same principle, and whose paths in life had traveled the same highway. And as we sat and looked at them, and they all seemed to be looking at us, there was a congenial group of fellows. There are twenty-five or more of those faces hanging on the wall. Many of those who are living so far as we know. It is a story of an endless chain—those who have passed and those who are still living—of a group of men who have lived so far as we know. It is a story of an endless chain—those who have passed and those who are still living—of a group of men who have lived so far as we know. DEAL DECLINES TO RUN FOR CONGRESS

Received Much Encouragement But Declines to Get Into The Contest.

After a couple of weeks of casual candidacy for congress, Hon. A. M. Deal, local political leader, eliminated himself several days ago by the positive announcement that he was no longer considering the possibility of entering the contest.

Spoken of as a casual candidate merely means that our local man received strong encouragement from substantial political influences, and that he gave serious thought to the possibility of submitting to the urgent demand of those friends that he get in the running.

Final decision to eliminate himself was made known Tuesday when he stated that he had a couple of days before then communicated with other prospective candidates who were known to him and who had assured them of his decision not to run.

There were, of course, a number of elements which contributed to the forming of his decision not to run, one of which causes, recognized as of paramount importance, is the cost of a campaign of such magnitude. While friends had expressed a willingness to share the burden of this campaign, it is recognized that the drain upon one's personal resources would naturally be heavy.

Albert Deal has been an important factor in political circles for a long while, and his standing in public affairs is a credit to him and a delight to his friends. He is now completing his second consecutive term in the Georgia legislature, in which capacity he stood high among his associates. Recently he announced as a candidate for the United States House of Representatives, but withdrew from that race while he was seriously giving consideration to the congressional race. He is not a candidate for any office.

ELECTRIC PROJECT PLANS MATURING

Bulloch and Candler Counties to Co-operate in Organization Of Wide Importance.

Rural electrification for various areas in Bulloch county seems much nearer reality than was anticipated by those working on the project ten days ago.

Some $150,000 has been set-aside for a project that will probably include most if not all of the area surveyed in Bulloch and Candler counties. Three of the areas mapped in Bulloch were plotted from the Candler county project terminals. The 44th district and part of the 45th will fit very well with the line coming down to Excelsior, with the 1309th and the 1716th district fitting in just as well with lines in the eastern side of Candler. To reach the remainder of the plotted area it will be necessary to build a line about a mile of unplotted distance some four miles north of Statesboro on Route 80.

At a meeting in Metter Tuesday it was deemed wise to apply for a charter for the organization to be known as the Excelsior Electric Membership Corporation. J. Floyd Nevils and M. W. Turner represented the Bulloch area in applying for the charter. Barring no set-backs membership fees, easements, and contracts will be signed in some thirty days. Lights should be on in some of the area early next fall.

"HELP BUSINESS" CAMPAIGN FOR LOCAL BUSINESSPEOPLE

Statesboro High School Comes to a Close

Rev. Williams Preaches Sermon And Dr. Wells Delivers Baccalaureate Address.

With the delivery of diplomas, certificates, gifts, etc., to the graduating class of fifty, Statesboro High School came to a close Monday evening. A packed house witnessed the exercises, which marked the close of this year's school year. This despite a downpour of rain which began thirty minutes before the scheduled hour for opening of the exercises, and which continued intermittently till the close. It might be suggested, however, that the pleasant showers contributed to the solution of the seating problem, since there has always in the past been a congestion which was absent Monday evening.

Dr. Guy Walls, president of G. S. C. W., Milledgeville, former president of South Georgia Teachers College, was commencement speaker and delivered his address with words of appreciation for the memories of his associates among the people here during the eight years he was at the school.

LARGE CROWD AT OGEECHEE SCHOOL

Friday Evening Made Enjoyable By An Excellent Meal and High-Class Program.

It was a most delightful occasion last Friday evening when the members of the Statesboro Chamber of Commerce and their ladies were guests of the Parent-Teacher Association of Ogeechee School.

Headed sixty or more from Statesboro, citizens of the Ogeechee community turned out and participated in the festivities of the evening. Ninety plates were served according to the refreshment committee, and the word "served" merits stress, for the dinner was a most excellent one.

Following the meal a brief program of introduction was gone through with, in which a number of visitors were presented. Then came the program of music and entertainment, directed by members of the faculty. Mrs. Z. S. Henderson, in charge of the music, led a series of folk songs and spirituals which were enthusiastically joined in by the large audience; Miss Marie Wood rendered a couple of delightful vocal numbers, and Miss Frances Cone gave a number of readings.

Miss Elizabeth Donovan, superintendent of the school, which is a department of Teachers College, was introduced and responded to the request for a statement of her proposed world tour, mention of which has already been made in these columns.

As a guest of the Rosewood Foundation, Miss Donovan will leave on June 15th for a tour which will keep her away for almost a year and will see Ogeechee, page 5

State Editors May Pay Brief Visit Here

If plans now in the making are successful, Statesboro will be host to the newspaper people of Georgia for a short while on Friday afternoon of next week (June 10), when they will probably be served at the Teachers College.

The number of degree graduates this year is the largest that the college has ever had. Last year forty-four degree, twenty normal diplomas, and seven junior college certificates were awarded, making a total of 71 graduates.

If submarines and airplanes hadn't been invented we wonder what the cameramen would have used to make up news reels for the movies?

Helpful Hints On

Old-Age Insurance

(By J. W. OVERSTREET JR., manager, 265 American Building, Savannah, Georgia.)

Q. When the Social Security Act was passed I was not ready to retire. Now, I am 70 years old and am retiring. Where do I apply for the old-age pension?

A. The federal old-age insurance provisions of the Social Security Act do not apply to persons who were past 65 before 1937. If you desire to apply for old-age assistance, which is administered by the state, it is suggested that you call at the Bulloch County Board of Public Welfare, Statesboro, Ga., or, if you prefer, you might write to Lamar Muddough, Director, State Department of Public Welfare, Atlanta, Ga. Under the old-age assistance provisions of the act, the state decides who shall receive assistance and how much.

Q. What is the difference between federal old-age insurance benefits and old-age assistance?

A. Briefly, the old-age insurance benefits provided by the Social Security Act differ from old-age assistance in two ways; first, they are to be paid by the federal government directly to the individual; and, second, payment will not be dependent on the establishment of need. The amount paid to each person will depend on his work and wages before reaching 65.

Q. Where are the Social Security headquarters?

A. The regional office of the Social Security Board which serves the southeastern state of Alabama, Florida, Georgia, Mississippi, South Carolina and Tennessee, is located at 1829 First Avenue, North, Birmingham, Alabama.

Q. If I receive unemployment compensation benefits, will that dis-head of the South Georgia Teachers College, calling by name many of those with whom he had been pleasantly associated.

His prepared address was a dispassionate appeal to the young people of the graduating class to give serious thought to the responsibilities which are before them as future citizens.

He discussed past and the present social and educational conditions, giving opportunity upon which to base intelligent plans for future betterment. He discounted the often-heard cry of pessimism which undertakes to find fault with those things which exist as hopelessly evil.

"I bring you a note of optimism," said the speaker. "Georgia is surely moving away from the place which has been assigned her by many public speakers at the bottom of the list—she is moving toward the top, and there is much to inspire confidence in the future."

Following the address, diplomas were presented to the graduates by Fred T. Lanier, chairman of the city board of education. Then followed the announcement of honors for excellence in the various activities of the school, with proper awards presented by Mr. Wollet. Jack Averitt was given first place for scholastic honors for an average of 97.85 in his work. This is the second year in succession young Averitt has received this award, his previous average being 98. Mr. Wollet commented happily upon the attainment. An award in music was given to Betty Smith, who had represented the school in the district meet and the district level in the state meet at Athens. Honors were given Miriam Lanier and Margaret Ann Johnston for excellence in debate; to "Skeet" Kennon in athletics; to Robert Morris and Sara Alice Bradley in citizenship, and to Robert Hodges in football (this last being a medal contributed by H. W. Smith).

In addition to the group of fifty young people who composed the class, a diploma of graduation was presented to George Dewey Wynn, a man of middle age who has been employed as WPA worker in the manual arts department and who has at the same time for two years been working to complete his education.

At the close of Monday evening's exercise a reception was held at the Woman's Club under the auspices of the Parent-Teacher Association, after which dancing was engaged in by the young people.

Another important feature of the graduation exercises was the baccalaureate sermon Sunday at the First Baptist church, when Rev. N. H. Williams, pastor of the Statesboro Methodist church, was speaker. The church was crowded to overflowing and the minister, always fascinating, was at his very best. His was a forceful appeal to the practical living on the part of the people, with honesty of action as the basis of his appeal.

His address was spiced with sufficient humor to hold interest, while it was laden with intelligent words of advice for old and young. Those who heard the sermon have been loud in their words of approval.

DONALDSON GROUP HAS GOOD RECORD

Pioneer Settlers of Bulloch County Were of Scotch and Irish Ancestry.

Among the pioneers of Bulloch county, none have had a more honorable or important part to play in the history of the county than the Donaldsons. For well high two centuries the name Donaldson has ranked high in the county's affairs; and of hand we believe it would be difficult to point out a black sheep in the lot.

Character does not come by accident—it takes a heap of living to establish a reputation for worthiness; and reputation, good or bad, is but the fruit of hereditary and environment. If one's ancestors were good citizens, then it is easy to understand why those you know today are counted good.

This much is said by way of introducing the American founder of the Donaldson family.

A booklet was issued in June, 1910, by J. A. Brannen and W. P. Donaldson which constituted a "Short History of the Donaldson and the Brannen Families." Taken from the introductory of that history are these words:

"John Donaldson was the first of the name of our immediate family to come to America. He came from Ireland to North Carolina about the year 1774. He was a Scotchman and no doubt went to Ireland as an emigrant when England was bringing settlers to Ireland after its conquest. He brought his wife, Elizabeth, with him at the time he came over to America. Robert Donaldson, the grandfather of William P. Donaldson, one of the compilers hereof, was a small boy when his father, John, came to America. Robert Donaldson could remember crossing the Atlantic. He settled in North Carolina and later in Jones county, Georgia, and probably died in that county. He was a Presbyterian.

"Robert Donaldson as stated above came to America when he was five years of age in the year 1774. After leaving North Carolina he went to Screven county, Georgia, and there married Peggy Erwin. About the year 1790 he moved to Bulloch county and settled near Blitch. . . . He was eighty-three years old when he passed away. He had been a preacher of the Baptist persuasion for sixty-three years. He was a noted character of his day and generation."

Mrs. J. W. Franklin, Statesboro, is the daughter of the late W. P. Donaldson, great-granddaughter of Robert Donaldson.

WIDE APPROVAL GREET'S RIVERS

Campaign Slogan Is "Complete Program of Progress and 100 Per Cent Loyalty."

(By Georgia News Service)

Atlanta, Ga., May 30.—Congratulatory messages by the thousands began to pour in immediately after Governor E. D. Rivers' announcement that he will stand for re-election instead of entering the race for the United States senate.

All over Georgia people apparently recognized the decision as one of the most difficult the governor has faced. There was what his friends termed as "the opportunity of a lifetime" to offer for United States senator. On the other hand, the way was clear to the people of Georgia to carry out the remainder of the state democratic party platform proclaimed when the governor was elected almost two years ago.

But, declared the governor, "I cannot let the old folks down. I cannot let the blind, the crippled, the sick and the unfortunate down here at home."

"The slogan of the coming state campaign must be 'Complete the Great State Program of Progress and Remain 100 Per Cent Loyal to President Franklin D. Roosevelt.'"

"With these things in mind," came the dramatic conclusion of Governor Rivers' address, "and with the consent of the qualified voters of this state, in the coming September primary and the ensuing November general election, I will remain your governor for the customary second term."

In his speech Governor Rivers told briefly of the forward steps already made in the platform on which he was elected, as the result of co-operation with the administration and the people of the state.

The great progress in improvement of public health, in bringing about greater educational facilities; in bringing relief to the needy, were a few of the forward steps cited. Still, it was pointed out, much remains to be completed.

With this in mind, the governor announced his belief service as governor, patriotic devotion to the people, "which the present situation seems immediately and imperatively to require," demand his offering for re-election.

"I want to lead and contrive for the people the conclusion of the fine program we have begun," he declared. "I want to follow worthy in the footsteps of that great and successful Georgian, James Jackson, who put the service of the people of this state ahead of his personal ambitions."

Under authority of the powers of sale and conveyance granted in that certain deed to secure debt given by L. E. Brown to A. D. Sowell, Jr. dated January 15, 1932, and recorded in the office of the clerk of the superior court of Bulloch county, in deed book 84, page 293, and assigned and transferred to me by said A. D. Sowell, Jr. on March 2, 1937, said assignment being recorded in book 122, page 803, in the office of the clerk of the superior court of Bulloch county, I will, on the first Tuesday in June, 1938, within the legal hours of sale, before the court house door in Statesboro, Bulloch county, Georgia, hold at public outcry to the highest bidder, for cash, the tract of land described in said deed to secure debt, to-wit:

All that certain tract or parcel of land situated lying and being in the 47th G. M. district of Bulloch county, Georgia, containing two hundred fifty (250) acres, more or less, and bounded as follows: North by lands of T. R. Bryan; east by lands of Naomi Burned and paved highway leading from Statesboro to Savannah, and west by lands of the A. D. Sowell estate and lands of Maggie Beasley. This being the same lands described in a deed from D. Barnhill to J. W. Upchurch and L. E. Brown dated November 10, 1925, and recorded in the office of the clerk of Bulloch superior court in deed book No. 65, on page 233.

Said deed is made for the purpose of enforcing payment of the balance of the indebtedness secured by said deed, of which debt, of which I am past due and unpaid, amounting to twelve hundred forty dollars principal, and three hundred ten dollars interest, to date of sale, a total of fifteen hundred fifty-one dollars, and the expenses of this proceeding. A deed conveying title in fee simple will be given to the purchaser at said sale, subject to any unpaid taxes against the said property.
